

Ellen Schmidt Addresses State Schools And Clubs

Ellen Schmidt, a German student here at GSCW, has been speaking to various Rotary clubs, colleges, and high schools all over the state since her arrival here on October 9.

On November 4, Ellen spoke to the Rotary Club in Valdosta on the education problem in Germany since the end of World War II.

She was the speaker at the Thomasville Rotary Club on November 5, and talked of her experiences in her native country and her hopes for its future.

On November 8, she spoke to Statesboro high school students on life in German schools. On this day, she also addressed the Savannah Rotary Club with the "Berlin Crisis" as her topic.

On November 9, she spoke on Parent-Teacher relations to the Dublin P-TA.

Ellen spoke to the GSCW student body in chapel on November 12, with "German Women Today," as her subject.

Ellen is scheduled to speak to the Gainesville Rotary Club on November 15, the Macrae Rotary Club and the high school, November 23; the Milledgeville Rotary Club, November 24; all civic clubs in Dublin, December 7; Rome Rotary Club, December 9; and the Moultrie Rotary Club on December 21.

GAFCW Delegates Hold Conference

Becky Dennard of Atlanta, a student at GSCW, was elected treasurer of the Georgia Athletic Federation of College Women at a conference held here November 12 and 13.

Representatives from colleges and universities all over the state attended the annual meeting of GAFCW with GSCW acting as hostess school.

Lou Crawford, president of Rec on campus, welcomed the delegates at a general session Friday. Modern Dance Club, Tumbling Club, and Folk Club later presented demonstrations.

Round table discussions Saturday centered around such topics as "Transition from High School to College Philosophy," "It Has Been Done," and "College Philosophy Applied to Life."

Activities of the day included election of officers, reports from all colleges present, a report on the national federation, a business meeting, a picnic supper, and play night in the big gym with dancing and recreational games.

The theme for the two-day conference was "Fellowship Through Cooperation." GSCW voting delegates for the convention were Louise Stephens, Martha Pitard, and Peggy Rudder.

Schools having membership in GAFCW are Armstrong, Agnes Scott, Bessie Tift, Brenau, Shorter, GSCW, Mercer, GSWC, LaGrange, Georgia Teachers College, University of Georgia, West Georgia, and Wesleyan.

Evans Elected

Freshmen Elect Dormitory Officers

Elections of freshmen dormitory officers were held last week.

Officers for Bell Annex include Elizabeth Clarke, College Park, president; Pat Center, College Park, vice president; Jean Humphries, Macon, secretary; and Jane Mitchell, Griffin, treasurer.

Terrell Annex elected for its officers Carolyn Dunning, Blake, president; Anne Chittwood, Cartersville, vice president; Joan Fortner, Wadley, secretary; and Barbara Teate, Thomasville, treasurer.

RAISING OF FLAG GETS GOLDEN SLIPPER UNDERWAY; RULES, REGULATIONS GIVEN FOR YEARLY CONTEST

ELIZABETH KENDALL, president of the sophomore class, shakes hands with Patsy Evans, freshman class president, while Cat Luther, CGA president, holds the Golden Slipper flag.

Golden Slipper activities got under way officially November 8 with the raising of the Golden Slipper flag. This flag, purchased by the CGA, will fly over Arts throughout the contest.

The annual contest, to be held November 19 this year, will have three judges chosen by the president of CGA. The points to be judged are: The play, 50 per cent; adaptation, 15 per cent; stage design and costume, 10 per cent; acting, 15 per cent; and direction, 10 per cent; publicity, 10 per cent; displays, 5 per cent; posters, 5 per cent; theme, 40 per cent; songs, 10 per cent; entrance, 15 per cent; and costumes, 15 per cent.

Rules

Rules and regulations for the event are as follows:

All posters, a copy of the songs, and a copy of the budget must be turned in to the president of CGA by noon on the day of the contest. A committee of three adults, excluding class sponsors, chosen by the president of CGA, and the president of the three upper classes select a short story or narrative poem from which the plays are adapted. From this material, given to the presidents of the freshman and sophomore classes at least three weeks before the contest, a play, lasting not over 30 minutes is written.

No adult may supervise the plays or witness a practice performance of the play. The adaptation of the play is entirely in the hands of the freshman and sophomore classes with the help of their sister classes. Technical advice may be asked of anyone.

At least a week before the contest, presidents of the two classes draw for the second entrance into the auditorium on the night of the contest. The class losing is given a choice of first or second place in the presentation of the plays.

Publicity

No off-campus publicity is allowed. Each class may put out as many as seven posters, but only five may be submitted to the judges. Posters cannot be exhibited prior to the Wednesday before the contest, and not more than four posters may be exhibited at one time.

One display for each class may be put up on Thursday before the contest in places designated for them. The presidents of the two classes draw for first choice of place.

Each class has seven songs for the event including the class song. The number of yells can be no more than four.

Students directors and assistants are chosen from the sister classes.

No pep meetings or publicity stunts may be held earlier than the Wednesday before the contest.

Neither class may spend more than $30 on penalty of having one point deducted for the first $5 or fraction thereof, and one point deducted for each $1 or fraction thereof over that $5.

No decoration of the auditorium is permitted; no entrance can last over ten minutes, and no organized yells will be allowed.

Band And Vocal Clinic To Be Held Here Dec. 3 And 4

The state Band and Vocal Clinic will be held at GSCW December 3 and 4.

The clinic this year will be devoted to preparing for the all-state chorus, which will make its appearance in Macon at the Georgia Education Association meeting.

The teacher for the clinic and the all-state chorus director is Dr. Harry Seitz of Detroit, Mich.

Dr. Seitz received his education at Georgia, Conservatory of Music, Cincinnati Conservatory, University of Illinois, University of Detroit, and Trinity College, London, England.

The state vocal chairman is Douglas Rumble, Jr., of Atlanta, who will be in charge of the vocal part of the program.

Rollin Tuttle of Atlanta, is state instrumental chairman, and is in charge of the instrumental part of the program. Owen Seitz of Atlanta, is president of the Georgia Music Education Association.

Dr. Bonner Attends HSA Meeting

Dr. James Bonner, professor of history at GSCW, attended a meeting of the Southern Historical Association in Jackson, Miss., November 3-6.

Historical papers are presented each year at the meeting of the association which is one of the largest regional associations in the country. Last year at the Savannah meeting Dr. Helen Greene, associate professor of social science at GSCW, was guest speaker. The preceding year, at the conference in Nashville, Dr. Bonner presented a paper entitled "Southern Plantation Architecture."

Next year the meeting of this association will be held at William and Mary College in Williamsburg, Va.

Choir To Present 'The Messiah' Dec. 5

The A Cappella Choir, under the direction of Miss Alberta Goff, will present "The Messiah," by George Frederick Handel in Russell Auditorium December 5, at 7:30 o'clock.

Soloists for "The Messiah" will include Mrs. Barbara Connally Rogers, soprano, and Mrs. Dorothy Wilbur Noah, contralto.

Haskell Boyter, Atlanta, who had the role of Elijah on last year's program, will also be a soloist. T. M. Rydberg will sing tenor.

Soloists will be accompanied by Miss Maggie Jenkins, organist, and Mrs. Gertrude Allen, pianist.

Floride Moore Day Set For Nov. 22nd

November 22 has been set aside as "Floride Moore Day" at GSCW.

Miss Moore, a GSCW alumna, will be guest chapel speaker on this day. She will be presented here by Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economics society on campus.

Miss Moore will talk about her recent film, "The School That Learned to Eat," which the Saturday Review of Literature says is an excellent and impartial story of how the East Griffin, Georgia, school put its dietary house in order.

This film will be shown at various times throughout the day to interested persons.

DR. BEISWANGER SPEAKS AT VESPERS NOV. 22

Thanksgiving Vespers will be held Monday, November 22, at 6:15 in Russell Auditorium.

Dr. George Beiswanger, chairman of the division of philosophy at GSCW, will be the speaker for the vespers, and members of the Cecilian Singers will sing.

A Fable Of GSCW

Once in a certain year at GSCW there was a group of very capable girls—girls who were good in many fields—so good that they soon found themselves office-holders in almost every club, organization, and publication on campus.

This was fine. But there was one catch to the whole thing. What with problems and meetings and more meetings and more problems, they just plain didn't have time for classes and term papers and book reports and outside reading, etc., that teachers seem to feel are pretty important in a college.

In fact our little group of members soon found themselves in an impossible position—they were doing everything on campus. They were swamped; they were overloaded; there were no days long enough to do all that had to be done.

But at the same time, other girls on campus, who were good, too, very good as a matter of fact, soon discovered that they had nothing to do—"absolutely nothing." The days were too long and no clubs or organizations on campus seemed to need anybody new. They seemed to be getting along just fine, thank you.

And the poor unfortunate first group wished feverishly everyday for new people, and the poor second group wished feverishly every day it had something to do. And the members of the first group continued to work themselves into nice, but rather inconvenient, nervous breakdowns.

And so it seemed to be an insolvable problem—and no one knew quite what to do. And as far as we know they're still worrying about it and wondering just what can be done.

Letters To The Editor

November 5, 1948.

Editor, The Colonnade,
Georgia State College for Women.
Dear Editor:

I have a complaint, which, as usual, begins with the dining hall. However, my complaint does not concern the food; in fact, several times each week I find the "gou-mit-okra" quite delectable. I am concerned with the flowers. It is not that I am allergic to them, and most assuredly I do not object to the arrangement of them—a most pleasing effect, indeed, this informal stuffing of yellow daisies into a syrup pitcher filled with ancient scented water (no doubt 'tis the attar of an alchemist of the desert) set off with a sprig of ivy, whose "day are in the yellow lead." My thesis pertains to the question, whence cometh these flowers?

The problem specifically is this: Our mother is sick. Last year she got all sorts of official permission to plant flowers near an official building on campus. With visions of dormitory decorating she proceeded to do all the things that those unfamiliar with the pronged fork cannot understand. Up came ten thousand daisies; and out came someone snipping. Result: Daisies on dining table, no daisies in dormitory.

The lifting of our mother's daisies is a heinous crime; it is no less than grand larceny.

BEBE KENT,
Atkinson

Dear Editor:

From the tone of this letter and the listing of "grievances" one might gather that we are "gripping." Really, we are not; rather, we believe that we are offering to you some of the most frequent complaints of the students. We are speaking in the hope that it will be taken as constructive criticism.

(1) We think it pretty hard on a student to be told to prepare for a particular kind of test and then to have the test be completely different. So much stress is being put on scholarship that we would like to feel that we are backed by the entire faculty in trying to get better grades for the classes. Our study time would be much more profitably spent.

(2) The entire student body, or smaller groups, are granted certain privileges by an administration which we realize is progressive. Yet, in certain classes our grades are affected by the use of these privileges. We believe this to be unfair.

(3) We can't help being confused from studying certain courses and finding the extreme importance of lesson plans and making classes interesting. Doesn't this hold true for college as well as for elementary and high school? We believe that some courses could be made more interesting, and thus class attendance and participation could be greatly heightened.

(4) We realize the importance of scholarship, but we also think that outside activities are important, too. Nothing that we do outside of the class room subtracts from our education but adds to it. Nothing that is offered on the campus could be said to be "extra-curricular" but rather should be called "co-curricular" or "co-collegiate." From seventeen to twenty-one are four of the best years of anyone's life, and we would like to see them spent in the most profitable as well as enjoyable way. Although we attend what is primarily a teachers college, we like to believe that we will marry. These four years should form a well rounded graduate who can take her place in society as teacher, mate, mother, and citizen with equal success. A certain number of q.p.'s or a profound knowledge of a certain field of study ALONE will not accomplish this.

We are aware that we are not perfect in any of our endeavors and that we need guidance—we are young. Perhaps it is this youth that makes us realize that approximately one-third of our life span is spent in school. We would like to get from these formative years, and especially these four,

Afterthoughts

By MILLIE BLACK

In speaking of the upset in the recent presidential election TIME magazine says, "The little old independent voter was the hero of Election Day. There was only one thing to his discredit and that was his casualness. On the basis of the vote cast—percentage-wise the lowest in 32 years—U. S. voters did not seem to care much about the election."

Yet in speaking about our recent class election on campus, certainly of less international importance, over 68 per cent of the freshman class turned out with such seriousness that there were FOUR run-overs. The class seemed to realize the importance of choosing their officers and their responsibility involved.

Some have made the remark that we should prepare ourselves for the politics we shall meet outside college life by having our elections carried on more as the state and national elections are. They say there should be campaign speeches wherein a candidate might set forth her platform. Thank heaven that has never been the practice, and pray that it will never be!

Because in reality the politicians have to make promises they know they can never fill and cater to certain groups who could "swing" an election, there is no reason that we should bring ourselves down to that level. Perhaps there is some degree of "electioneering" done, but it isn't accepted by the majority.

We have probably all had to vote against good friends because we saw some lack in her which would keep her from doing the best job possible. Easy? No, but it's honest! We are preparing ourselves to enter a life where that integrity can move political mountains. Corrupt politics have contaminated and endangered our whole nation.

If we, though a very small group, can keep up our interest in principles and politics perhaps a national magazine can never again make the statement that "U. S. voters did not seem to care much about the election!"

the very most that we can in as many varied ways as we can. We, in turn, are going to be called upon to guide.

Students Organize Sally Harrell Named Tri Sigma On Campus UWF President

Feeling the need for a new organization on campus, a group of students have formed what they consider a really "worth-while" club called Tri Sigma.

Requirements for this new organization are quantity points instead of quality points, and new members are required only to be sub-standard.

It has the reputation of being the largest, most active, most extra-curricular, and most non-political organization on campus.

Rumors have it that there will be a special meeting of the club the Monday after Golden Slipper, on the tennis courts. Regular meetings are usually held on Saturdays, as most members aren't allowed to attend meetings during the week. The meeting will be held on the tennis courts to accommodate the unexpectedly large number of members.

The club pin is triangular with "a" in each corner. (Sub-standard students.) In the center is the head of an ox.

The colors chosen for the organization are grey and black. Their dress is black symbolizing mourning.

Members of Tri Sigma cannot

Sally Harrell of Thomasville, has been elected president of the United World Federalists chapter on the GSCW campus.

Peggy Whitmire, Decatur, was chosen vice-president, and Sara Kennedy, Savannah, was selected as secretary.

Elizabeth Haulbrook, Brookhaven, was selected treasurer of the chapter.

UWF is an organization for the promoting of world government with the strengthening of the United Nations as its purpose.

work on Golden Slipper because of certain rules and regulations. They therefore are sponsoring a special contest called Silver Shoe. Their advisory class will be composed, they hope, of faculty members. The Tri Sigma display has been rumored to be a coffin holding millions of dead q.p.'s.

The preamble of the club has already been drawn up by charter members.

"We the students of the sub-standard club, in order to form more perfect freedom, establish chaos, insure failure, provide for no classes, and to promote ourselves do hereby ordain and establish this constitution for the Tri Sigmas of GSCW."

Traditions Of Golden Slipper

Have you ever wondered how and when Golden Slipper began at GSC? Well, we did, so we went around the other day to find out just what facts we could dig up about the history of the Golden Shoe, the contest, and the things it stands for.

We had a little trouble because the files on the subject are rather limited and so we can't give you the exact year that this all began. But we know that it was 'way back about 1935 or '36 when the first Golden Slipper Contest was held.

In the beginning, it was merely a get-acquainted evening, to give the freshmen a chance to get to know upperclassmen, and to help the upperclassmen discover where lay the new students' talents along extra-curricular lines. Really nothing more than just a stunt night, it grew bit by bit into the Golden Slipper that we know and love.

The contest has always, since its beginning, been between the sophomores and freshmen. And at first, they did it all by themselves, but later the sister classes and the faculty advisors began to help them.

At that time, there was no theme—only the play and pep songs. Then one class got the idea of all coming dressed in the same color. The next year the other class did the same, and thus gradually we began to have the themes, then songs, and posters and all the things that go with Golden Slipper, giving everyone a chance to join in.

In addition to helping locate the talents of the in-coming students, Golden Slipper has another purpose—that of promoting good fellowship. Not just between sister classes, but for the whole school. Someone once said, "If you don't just love everybody after Golden Slipper is over—no matter who won—there's something bad wrong with you."

And the little Golden Shoe, itself, was found by Miss Adams in an antique shop on Allen St., in New York a year or two after the contest began. It was gold then, but was old and quite worn, so she got some gold paint and repainted it. Now she is hoping to have it gold plated. Previous to having the slipper that we now have, the girls had used a gold evening shoe that some one had lent them.

Class To Present Tea Party Scene Dec. 2

Members of the play production class and John Gore, instructor in speech and dramatics at GSCW, will present the tea party scene from Lewis' Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland," on Thursday, December 2.

The play will be given at a meeting of Jesters, but it will be open to all who would like to attend.

Characters in the play are the Mad Hatter, the March Hare, the Doormouse and Alice.

Members of the plays production class who will take roles in the scene are Barbara Thompson, Frances Lawson, Iva Bea Paulk, and Jane MacRae.

Dr. Mildred English, professor of education at GSCW, and superintendent of Peabody Schools, was the speaker at the initiatory banquet of the Milledgeville Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma November 8. Her topic was: "Establishing Better Understanding Between Teachers of the Nations."

Those initiated into the chapter were Mrs. Gussie Tabb King and Mrs. Josephine Rozar of Milledgeville; Mrs. Velma Tanner Duggan, Sandersville; and Mrs. Bessie Wallace Reese, Sparta.

Distributive Ed Majors Tour Atlanta Stores

Members of Miss Charlotte Mankey's salesmanship class, and other distributive education majors made a tour of some of Atlanta's leading department stores Friday, November 12.

The purpose of the trip was to acquaint DE students with the layout and design of a typical department store. The tour began in the gift wrapping department of Rich's, from which the group was conducted through different areas of the store. The group spent the afternoon in visiting Franklin Simon, Atlanta's newest clothing center, J. P. Allen's, Regenstein's, and Davison's.

Auburn Players Will Appear Here Nov. 20

"The Imaginary Invalid," by Moliere will be presented at GSCW on November 20 by the Auburn Players.

Only season ticket holders for College Theatre productions this year will be admitted to the performance which is sponsored by College Theatre on campus.

Members of Jesters will have a party for the cast after the play Saturday night. Members of Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic society on campus, will give a breakfast for them Sunday morning in Sanford.

Dolores Wheeler Made BSU Officer

Dolores Wheeler, a sophomore at GSCW from LaFayette, was elected second vice president of the state BSU at a convention held at Mercer University November 5, 6, and 7.

Dolores, an education major, is publicity director for the YWCA cabinet on campus. She is a member of the Folk Club, and second vice president of the Milledgeville BSU.

"Y" NAMES LIBRARIAN AND WORSHIP CHAIRMAN

Dormitories Plan Christmas Parties

Terrell and Terrell Annex are making plans for Christmas dances. Terrell's will be held on Saturday, December 4, and Terrell Annex's will be held Saturday, December 11.

Both dances are to be formal. Five committees have been appointed to make further plans for the Terrell dance. Joyce Dean is general chairman for the event. Other committee chairmen are:

Bobby Lane, decorations; Birdie Johnson, refreshments; Nell Thomas, clean-up; Yvonne Michel, entertainment; and Mary Dot Finnelle, invitations.

Terrell Annex committees have not yet been appointed.

Chapel Programs

Friday, November 19—Golden Slipper skits.

Monday, November 22—Phi Upsilon Omicron will present Miss Floride Moore, associate professor of nutritional education at the University of Georgia, as the guest speaker.

Stewart To Attend Kansas Conference

Martha Lou Stewart of Sumner, a senior at GSCW, will attend the first national Economic Student Conference under the auspices of the United Student Christian Council in Lawrence, Kansas, December 27, 1948, to January 1, 1949.

The theme for the conference will be "World Churchmanship—'49." Members of the World Council of Churches staff and others have already been secured as platform speakers, and leaders of group discussions.

Martha Lou is Morning Watch chairman of YWCA Cabinet on campus, publicity chairman for Wesley Foundation, and is secretary of the History Club.

Speakers for the conference will include: Dr. D. Eleton Trueblood, professor of philosophy at Earlham College; President Julius Seelye Bixler of Colby College, author of "Religion for Free Minds"; Dr. Arnold Nash, author of "The University in the Modern World," and to Rev. K. T. Ting, Chinese member of the World's Student Christian Federation.

New Pastime Keeps Jessies In Stitches

Have you noticed the latest pastime of GSCW girls?

You really couldn't very well have helped but notice—those knitting needles are busy clicking everywhere these days.

You'll see them between classes in the halls, in the student union, in the senior lounge, and of course in practically every dormitory room on campus.

Yes, argyles and sweaters and just plain woolly white socks have acquired definite popularity among Jessies lately, and are very, very much in evidence now.

Colors range from brighter reds, royal blues, and kelly greens to the more delicate pinks and blues.

If you want to really be in style this quarter, you just don't discuss bridge finesses any more in bull sessions, you discuss new stitches.

Yes, it looks like knitting is here to stay—for a while anyhow—and almost every Jessie has adopted it.

Faculty Forecast

Mrs. Bernice Brown McCullar will speak in Hawkinsville on November 19.

Dr. Mildred English will address the Sparta P-TA on November 18 and the Association of Childhood Education in Atlanta on November 20.

Dr. Guy H. Wells will attend a conference in Washington, D.C., November 14-20, and a four-day conference in Memphis, Tenn., beginning on November 28.

JUDGE BELL TO SPEAK AT CURRENT AFFAIRS

Frank Bell, Milledgeville lawyer, will speak at Current Affairs Thursday, November 18. His topic will be, "How You Can Affect Your Local Government."

If you would like to come, sign up in the Y apartment by Wednesday.

NOTICE!

All who attend Thanksgiving Vespers, November 22, are requested to bring a bar of soap. All soap collected will be sent by Y to a kindergarten in Germany.
